

Life is a BOWL OF CASHews

WATER DROPLET

ONCE UPON A FISH

A long time ago, in a far away Kingdom, there lived a water droplet, named "Pointy".

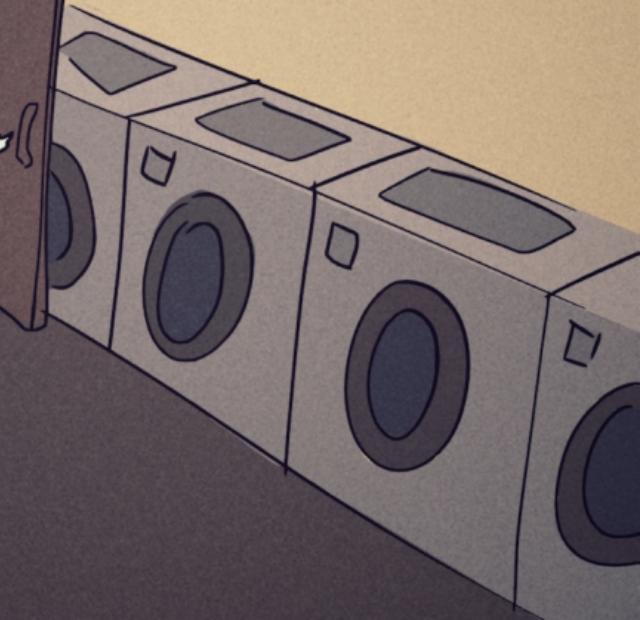

Pointy was a very sharp water droplet, and could not wash his own clothes.

This pointy water droplet who couldn't wash his clothes, went to the nearest launderette to make a transaction, to wash his clothes.

He also as he was washing his clothes, said:
"You know I haven't washed my sheets on my Bed in quite a while, I should do that",

and he started to wash his sheets, until ...

He found out, that his bed was alive,
and he was like:

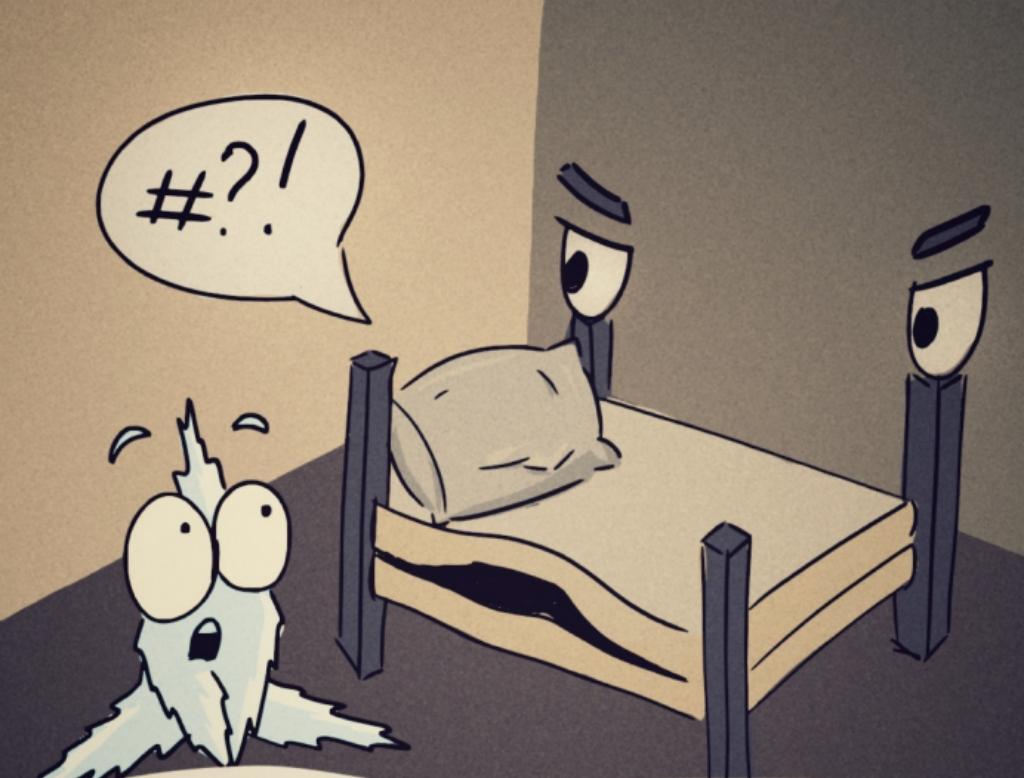

"Hey you're a pointy water droplet,
and you realize, you cut my mattress?"

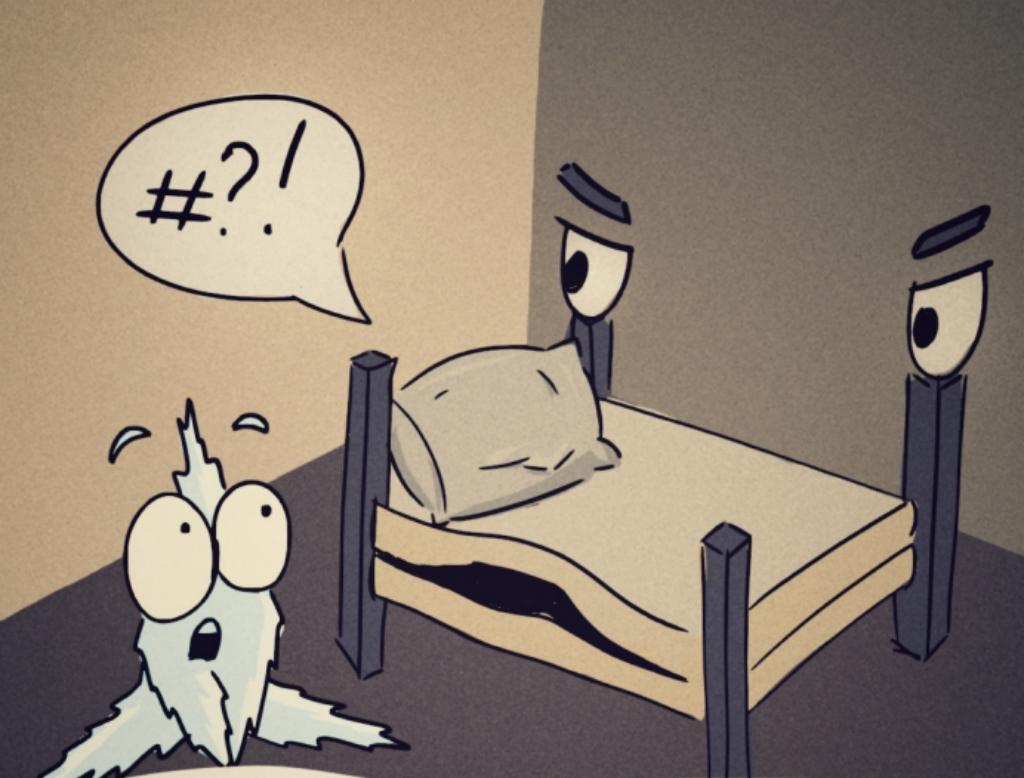

So ... Pointy looked at the bed
that's alive and said:

"I did not mean to cut your bed in pieces,
it's not my fault that i'm pointy."

#?!

And the bed said some crude things,
what we can't repeat on this ~~podcast~~
brochure

The bed was very absolute, about getting consequences for Pointy, for breaking him in to multiple pieces, and so ... he created a law

And the law was: "If you make a cut in a mattress beyond a certain measure, you must be sentenced to jail", and this Pointy was sent to jail for begin a pointy water droplet.

(which makes no sense).

Author(s):
Brian Hull and Paul

Illustrated by:
Mish7913